Marion Evans Curtis & Windham Architects Inc.

Since her arrival at Curtis & Windham Architects in 2005, Marion has escalated the interior design studio at this award-winning practice known for elegant, practical, classically based design. Marion has a prodigious ability to design for disparate styles and locations while creating functional and comfortable interiors that anticipate a contemporary lifestyle with respect to established design principles. She seamlessly works with architects to ensure custom results and provides a personal service by closely collaborating with clients to realize their aesthetic ideas and practical needs.

Marion's interior design studio capitalizes on interior architectural components and extends into a comprehensive design vision of finishes, fittings, lighting, fabrics and custom furniture. Her use of classical principles for good design and decoration have led her to successfully complete high end country properties, beach homes, mountain retreats and urban residences across the United States.

Context and clients are her two fundamental variables for every project. By studying the way in which a client lives, works and plays, Marion gets to the essence of what makes their needs unique. Put simply, each project is a chance for her to make an appropriate environment suited to a singular set of circumstances.
