Ginger Barber/Ginger Barber Interior Design

“ I really love the Houston Design Center because of its convenience. It's easy to navigate; you can walk right in and shop, and take product out on approval, which is wonderful. ”

Ginger Barber Ginger Barber Interior Design

Ginger Barber Interior Design has been a fixture in Houstonians' homes, and their second homes, since she opened her firm almost 30 years ago. Her motto, "keep it simple," shapes her calm, effortless looks with natural hues, textures and subtle repetitive patterns.

Barber pays close attention to details, listening carefully to her clients in order to transform their homes into a retreat. Her extensive background in both traditional and contemporary styles allows her to methodically combine the two in perfect harmony. Barber approaches interiors with a neutral palette and prefers solid white, beige or a subtle repetitive pattern, and then let's nature take its course.

Barber trained in design at Sarasota's Ringling School of Art and Design in Florida before moving to Houston to launch her firm. In her free time, she enjoys getting away from the city and spending time at her beach house in Galveston. She also sits on the board as Vice President for Habitat for Horses, a nonprofit organization dedicated to equine research and rescue, and is extremely passionate about supporting this cause.
