It's time to dust off the holiday decorations and get your head into entertaining mode. Whether you are hosting friends for a special holiday dinner or 100 guests for a fundraising kickoff, you want to impress. If you're going the DIY route, then it's time to start looking around for decorating inspiration. The Houston Design Center's annual Deck The Tables event is a great place to get inspiration and purchase a few items that will surely fool your guests into believing that you hired a professional.
