@ The Houston Design Center

Paloma Contreras/Paloma Contreras Design

The Houston Design Center is a wonderful resource for Houston's design community. From multi-line showrooms showcasing the goods of the top furniture manufacturers in the country to the exclusive fabric and stone showrooms, Houston Design Center offers a great breadth of product. In addition, I always look forward to the fantastic book signings, continuing education courses, and enriching events offered by HDC.

Paloma Contreras Paloma Contreras Design

Paloma Contreras is an interior decorator, tastemaker, and award-winning design blogger based in Houston, Texas. Paloma launched her widely read blog, La Dolce Vita in 2007 and her interior design business followed as her readers' interest in her style grew. Paloma's passion for the sweet life is reflected in the topics she explores daily from interior design and fashion to intriguing people and fabulous travel destinations. Paloma has been featured in multiple publications and websites including the New York Times, New York Magazine, The Washington Post, Domino, ELLE DECOR, House Beautiful, Trad Home, Southern Living, The Wall Street Journal, and Better Homes & Gardens.

Paloma has also worked on special projects with top brands such as One Kings Lane, Bravo Television, American Express, and Hilton Luxury Brands. Recently, Paloma became an online contributor for Domino magazine who declared "While many try, there are few who can master effortless sophistication like Paloma Contreras." Paloma's strong point of view, eye for style, and work as a blogger, interior designer, and editor have led her to be considered an "influencer" and "tastemaker" in the worlds of interior design and social media.
